Plainly written. What we store in your browser, and why.

The short version

Delphine uses a small number of strictly-necessary items to make the shop work, and one optional analytics service that runs only if you accept it in the cookie banner. We do not use advertising or cross-site tracking cookies, and we never sell your data.

Strictly necessary

These are required for the site to function and do not identify you across other websites.

- delphine-cart-v1 — keeps your shopping bag full as you browse (stored in your browser's local storage).
- delphine_cookie_consent — remembers whether you accepted or declined analytics, so the banner does not reappear on every visit.
- delphine_admin — a secure sign-in cookie used only by Delphine staff in the admin area. It is never set for customers.

Analytics — only with your consent

If you choose "Accept" in the banner, we load Google Analytics 4, which sets cookies beginning with _ga to help us understand which pages of the collection are explored. IP addresses are anonymized, and the data is aggregated — it does not identify you. If you choose "Decline", analytics never loads.

Managing your choice

You can change your mind at any time: clearing this site's data in your browser settings removes your saved choice, and the banner will ask again on your next visit. Your browser also lets you block or delete cookies for any site, though blocking the strictly-necessary storage may empty your bag between pages.

How we handle personal data more broadly is described in our Privacy Policy. For any question, write to contact@delphineswimwear.com.
